Approval and Withdrawal of NARBO members (as of 18 Feb 2008)

Approval of members

9 Organizations

RBO Pakistan Authority (RSA) was therefore created in 1993 through an Act of the Parliament to implement and regulate in accordance with the stipulations of the Water Accord. IRSA comprises five members, one each to be nominated by each Province and the Federal Government from amongst high ranking Engineers in Irrigation related engineering fields. Bang Pakong Prachinburi and Tonlesab River Basin Committee Outline Bang Pakong River Basin Committee is a coordinating body for water resources management in the river be its secretariat work is done by the Department of Water Resources' Regional Office 6. Japan Water Resources Association (JAWA) was established in May 1988 as an incorporated foundation authorized by National Land Agency (present Ministry of Land, Infrastructure and Transport) of Japanes and Japan Water Resources Association (JAWA) was established in May 1988 as an incorporated foundation authorized by National Land Agency (present Ministry of Land, Infrastructure and Transport) of Japanes or Infrastructure and Transport) of Japanes and Infrastructure and Transport of Japanes and Infrastructure and Transport) of Japanes and Infrastructure and Transport and Infrastructure and Transport and Infrastructure and	Category	Country	Organization
Pakistan As a consequence of the Water Apportionment Accord 1991, to implement the Accord. The Indus River Syste Authority (IRSA) was therefore created in 1993 through an Act of the Parliament to implement and regulated in accordance with the stipulations of the Water Accord. IRSA comprises live members, one each to be nominated by each Province and the Federal Government from amongst high ranking Engineers in Irrigation related orginoring field orginoring fie		-
RKP Thailand Outline Bang Pakong River Basin Committee is a coordinating body for water resources management in the river bat is secretarist work is done by the Department of Water Resources' Regional Office 6. Japan Water Resources Association Outline Japan Water Resources Association (JAWA) was established in May 1988 as an incorporated foundation authorized by National Land Agency (present Ministry of Land, Infrastructure and Transport) of Japanese government. The aim of JAWA has been promoting the activities for arousing people's interest on water resources and for obtaining the public understandings and cooperation. At the same time we implement the survey, research and technical development on various domestic and international water problems with the cooperation of private consultants, public institutes etc. under the guidance and advice of professors and experts. Graduate School of Management, Kyoto University Outline Graduate School of Management, Kyoto University has been established in 2006 jointly by the Graduate School of Engineering. This school is aiming at creating new leaders who solve trans-boundary management issues of ourrent society based on fundamental economics and engineer This school provides three programs. Project Innovation Management, Project Operation Management and Financial Risk Management. Japan River Restoration Network (JRRN) is one of the domestic organization of Asian River Restoration Net (ARRN) established in 2006 by the concerned agencies in Japan, Korea and China with an aim to exchange their knowledge and techniques through interaction. National Hydraulic Research Institute of Malaysia IRKP Malaysia IRKP Malaysia The International Water Centre Outline Lineary Countries of the Ministry of Natural Resources and Environment Malaysia and its objectives are to implement water/inver/coastal RRD program for sustainable national water resources development taking cognizance of environmental Outline (ICHARM was established in March 2006 under the auspices of UNESCO	RBO	Pakistan	Outline As a consequence of the Water Apportionment Accord 1991, to implement the Accord, The Indus River System Authority (IRSA) was therefore created in 1993 through an Act of the Parliament to implement and regulate the water in accordance with the stipulations of the Water Accord. IRSA comprises five members, one each to be nominated by each Province and the Federal Government from amongst high ranking Engineers in Irrigation or
Bang Pakong River Basin Committee is a coordinating body for water resources management in the river be its scretariat work is done by the Department of Water Resources Regional Office 6. Japan Water Resources Association Outline Japan Water Resources Association (JAWA) was established in May 1988 as an incorporated foundation authorized by National Land Agency (present Ministry of Land, Infrastructure and Transport) of Japanese government. The aim of JAWA has been promoting the activities for arousing people's interest on water resources and for obtaining the public understandings and cooperation. At the same time we implement the survey, research and technical development on various domestic and international water problems with the cooperation of private consultants, public institutes etc. under the guidance and advice of professors and experts. Graduate School of Management, Kyoto University Outline RKP Japan Service Resolve of Management, Kyoto University has been established in 2006 jointly by the Graduate School of Engineering. This school is aiming at creating new leaders who of Economics and the Graduate School of Engineering. This school is aiming at creating new leaders who of Economics and the Graduate School of Engineering. This school is aiming at creating new leaders who of Economics and Engineering and Engineering and Engineering This school provides three programs: Project Innovation Management, Project Operation Management and Financial Risk Management. Japan River Restoration Network (JRRN) is one of the domestic organization of Asian River Restoration Net (ARRN) established in 2006 by the concerned agencies in Japan, Korea and China with an aim to exchange their knowledge and techniques through interaction. RKP Malaysia Malaysia Malaysia Malaysia The institute is under the Ministry of Natural Resources and Environment Malaysia and its objectives are to implement water/river/coastal RRD program for sustainable national water resources development taking cognizance of erivoremental con			Bang Pakong Prachinburi and Tonlesab River Basin Committee
RKP Japan RKP Japan	RBO	Thailand	Bang Pakong River Basin Committee is a coordinating body for water resources management in the river basin.
Japan Water Resources Association (JAWA) was established in May 1988 as an incorporated foundation authorized by National Land Agency (present Ministry of Land, Infrastructure and Transpory) of Japanese government. The aim of JAWA has been promoting the activities for arousing people's interest on water resources and for obtaining the public understandings and cooperation. At the same time we implement the survey, research and technical development on various domestic and international water problems with the cooperation of private consultants, public institutes etc. under the guidance and advice of professors and experts. Graduate School of Management, Kyoto University Outline			Japan Water Resources Association
Australia IRKP Japan Outline Graduate School of Management, Kyoto University has been established in 2006 jointly by the Graduate School of Economics and the Graduate School of Engineering. This school is aiming at creating new leaders who of Economics and the Graduate School of Engineering. This school is aiming at creating new leaders who of Solve trans-boundary management itssues of current society based on fundamental economics and engineer This school provides three programs: Project Innovation Management, Project Operation Management and Financial Risk Management. RKP Japan River Restoration Network Outline Japan River Restoration Network (JRRN) is one of the domestic organization of Asian River Restoration Network (ARRN) established in 2006 by the concerned agencies in Japan, Korea and China with an aim to exchange knowledge and technical information on river restoration as well as to provide opportunities for groups and individuals to share and exchange their knowledge and experiences in telicil, which would enable the participants to improve their knowledge and techniques through interaction. National Hydraulic Research Institute of Malaysia Outline The institute is under the Ministry of Natural Resources and Environment Malaysia and its objectives are to implement water/fiver/coastal R&D program for sustainable national water resources development taking cognizance of environmental consideration AND to provide services as the National Hydraulic Research Cerd of Excellence. The International Water Centre Outline International WaterCentre (IWC) is a joint venture between four leading Australian universities: The University Queensland, Monash University, Griffith University and the University of Water Internationally to implement effective integrated water resource management. The International Centre for Water Hazard and Risk Management Outline IRKP Japan IRKP IRKP IRKP Japan IRKP IRKP Japan Japan IRKP Japan Japan Japan Japan J	RKP	Japan	Japan Water Resources Association (JAWA) was established in May 1988 as an incorporated foundation authorized by National Land Agency (present Ministry of Land, Infrastructure and Transport) of Japanese government. The aim of JAWA has been promoting the activities for arousing people's interest on water resources and for obtaining the public understandings and cooperation. At the same time we implement the survey, research and technical development on various domestic and international water problems with the cooperation of private consultants, public institutes etc. under the guidance and advice of professors and
Graduate School of Management, Kyoto University has been established in 2006 jointly by the Graduate School of Economics and the Graduate School of Engineering. This school is aiming at creating new leaders who consolve trans-boundary management issues of current society based on fundamental economics and engineer This school provides three programs: Project Innovation Management, Project Operation Management and Financial Risk Management. Japan River Restoration Network	RKP	Japan	Graduate School of Management, Kyoto University
Outline Japan River Restoration Network (JRRN) is one of the domestic organization of Asian River Restoration Net (ARRN) established in 2006 by the concerned agencies in Japan, Korea and China with an aim to exchange knowledge and technical information on river restoration as well as to provide opportunities for groups and individuals to share and exchange their knowledge and experiences in the field, which would enable the participants to improve their knowledge and techniques through interaction. National Hydraulic Research Institute of Malaysia			Graduate School of Management, Kyoto University has been established in 2006 jointly by the Graduate School of Economics and the Graduate School of Engineering. This school is aiming at creating new leaders who can solve trans-boundary management issues of current society based on fundamental economics and engineering. This school provides three programs: Project Innovation Management, Project Operation Management and
Japan River Restoration Network (JRRN) is one of the domestic organization of Asian River Restoration Net (ARRN) established in 2006 by the concerned agencies in Japan, Korea and China with an aim to exchange knowledge and technical information on river restoration as well as to provide opportunities for groups and individuals to share and exchange their knowledge and experiences in the field, which would enable the participants to improve their knowledge and techniques through interaction. National Hydraulic Research Institute of Malaysia			Japan River Restoration Network
Outline The institute is under the Ministry of Natural Resources and Environment Malaysia and its objectives are to implement water/river/coastal R&D program for sustainable national water resources development taking cognizance of environmental consideration AND to provide services as the National Hydraulic Research Cer of Excellence. The International Water Centre Outline International WaterCentre (IWC) is a joint venture between four leading Australian universities: The University Queensland, Monash University, Griffith University and the University of Western Australia. IWC is a centre reducation, training and research committed to building the capacity of water professionals internationally to implement effective integrated water resource management. The International Centre for Water Hazard and Risk Management Outline ICHARM was established in March 2006 under the auspices of UNESCO hosted by the Public Works Research Institute, Japan. The mission of ICHARM is to function as the international centre to provide and assist implementation of best practicable strategies to localities, regions and the globe to manage the risk of water related disasters. The International Research and Training Center on Erosion and Sedimentation Outline The International Research and Training Center on Erosion and Sedimentation (IRTCES) was jointly set up July 21, 1984, in Beijing according to the agreement of the Government of China and UNESCO, which was renewed in November 2005. The Ministry of Water Resources is the governmental executive agency. Since	RKP	Japan	Japan River Restoration Network (JRRN) is one of the domestic organization of Asian River Restoration Network (ARRN) established in 2006 by the concerned agencies in Japan, Korea and China with an aim to exchange knowledge and technical information on river restoration as well as to provide opportunities for groups and individuals to share and exchange their knowledge and experiences in the field, which would enable the
IRKP Malaysia The institute is under the Ministry of Natural Resources and Environment Malaysia and its objectives are to implement water/river/coastal R&D program for sustainable national water resources development taking cognizance of environmental consideration AND to provide services as the National Hydraulic Research Cer of Excellence. The International Water Centre Outline International WaterCentre (IWC) is a joint venture between four leading Australian universities: The Universi Queensland, Monash University, Griffith University and the University of Western Australia. IWC is a centre education, training and research committed to building the capacity of water professionals internationally to implement effective integrated water resource management. The International Centre for Water Hazard and Risk Management Outline ICHARM was established in March 2006 under the auspices of UNESCO hosted by the Public Works Research Institute, Japan. The mission of ICHARM is to function as the international centre to provide and assist implementation of best practicable strategies to localities, regions and the globe to manage the risk of water related disasters. The International Research and Training Center on Erosion and Sedimentation Outline The International Research and Training Center on Erosion and Sedimentation (IRTCES) was jointly set up July 21, 1984, in Beijing according to the agreement of the Government of China and UNESCO, which was renewed in November 2005. The Ministry of Water Resources is the governmental executive agency. Since			National Hydraulic Research Institute of Malaysia
IRKP Australia International WaterCentre (IWC) is a joint venture between four leading Australian universities: The University of Western Australia. IWC is a centre of education, training and research committed to building the capacity of water professionals internationally to implement effective integrated water resource management. The International Centre for Water Hazard and Risk Management Outline ICHARM was established in March 2006 under the auspices of UNESCO hosted by the Public Works Research Institute, Japan. The mission of ICHARM is to function as the international centre to provide and assist implementation of best practicable strategies to localities, regions and the globe to manage the risk of water related disasters. The International Research and Training Center on Erosion and Sedimentation Outline The International Research and Training Center on Erosion and Sedimentation (IRTCES) was jointly set up July 21, 1984, in Beijing according to the agreement of the Government of China and UNESCO, which was renewed in November 2005. The Ministry of Water Resources is the governmental executive agency. Since	RKP	Malaysia	The institute is under the Ministry of Natural Resources and Environment Malaysia and its objectives are to implement water/river/coastal R&D program for sustainable national water resources development taking cognizance of environmental consideration AND to provide services as the National Hydraulic Research Centre
IRKP Australia International WaterCentre (IWC) is a joint venture between four leading Australian universities: The University Queensland, Monash University, Griffith University and the University of Western Australia. IWC is a centre education, training and research committed to building the capacity of water professionals internationally to implement effective integrated water resource management. The International Centre for Water Hazard and Risk Management Outline ICHARM was established in March 2006 under the auspices of UNESCO hosted by the Public Works Research Institute, Japan. The mission of ICHARM is to function as the international centre to provide and assist implementation of best practicable strategies to localities, regions and the globe to manage the risk of water related disasters. The International Research and Training Center on Erosion and Sedimentation Outline The International Research and Training Center on Erosion and Sedimentation (IRTCES) was jointly set up July 21, 1984, in Beijing according to the agreement of the Government of China and UNESCO, which was renewed in November 2005. The Ministry of Water Resources is the governmental executive agency. Since	IRKP	Australia	The International Water Centre
Outline ICHARM was established in March 2006 under the auspices of UNESCO hosted by the Public Works Research Institute, Japan. The mission of ICHARM is to function as the international centre to provide and assist implementation of best practicable strategies to localities, regions and the globe to manage the risk of water related disasters. The International Research and Training Center on Erosion and Sedimentation Outline The International Research and Training Center on Erosion and Sedimentation (IRTCES) was jointly set up July 21, 1984, in Beijing according to the agreement of the Government of China and UNESCO, which was renewed in November 2005. The Ministry of Water Resources is the governmental executive agency. Since			International WaterCentre (IWC) is a joint venture between four leading Australian universities: The University of Queensland, Monash University, Griffith University and the University of Western Australia. IWC is a centre for education, training and research committed to building the capacity of water professionals internationally to
ICHARM was established in March 2006 under the auspices of UNESCO hosted by the Public Works Research Institute, Japan. The mission of ICHARM is to function as the international centre to provide and assist implementation of best practicable strategies to localities, regions and the globe to manage the risk of water related disasters. The International Research and Training Center on Erosion and Sedimentation Outline The International Research and Training Center on Erosion and Sedimentation (IRTCES) was jointly set up July 21, 1984, in Beijing according to the agreement of the Government of China and UNESCO, which was renewed in November 2005. The Ministry of Water Resources is the governmental executive agency. Since	IRKP	Japan	The International Centre for Water Hazard and Risk Management
People's Republic of China Outline The International Research and Training Center on Erosion and Sedimentation (IRTCES) was jointly set up July 21, 1984, in Beijing according to the agreement of the Government of China and UNESCO, which was renewed in November 2005. The Ministry of Water Resources is the governmental executive agency. Since			ICHARM was established in March 2006 under the auspices of UNESCO hosted by the Public Works Research Institute, Japan. The mission of ICHARM is to function as the international centre to provide and assist implementation of best practicable strategies to localities, regions and the globe to manage the risk of water related disasters.
People's Republic of China People's Republic of China China People's Republic of China Research and Training Center on Erosion and Sedimentation (IRTCES) was jointly set up July 21, 1984, in Beijing according to the agreement of the Government of China and UNESCO, which was renewed in November 2005. The Ministry of Water Resources is the governmental executive agency. Since			The International Research and Training Center on Erosion and Sedimentation founding, IRTCES has devoted itself to research and training to solve scientific and engineering problems re to erosion and sedimentation.	IRKP	Republic of	The International Research and Training Center on Erosion and Sedimentation (IRTCES) was jointly set up on July 21, 1984, in Beijing according to the agreement of the Government of China and UNESCO, which was renewed in November 2005. The Ministry of Water Resources is the governmental executive agency. Since its founding, IRTCES has devoted itself to research and training to solve scientific and engineering problems related

Withdrawal of member

No Organization