KEY MESSAGE

Significant investments are made each year in an attempt to improve water supply and sanitation services. But these investments do not always fully achieve their targets.

Education and Capacity Development are essential elements for successful and sustainable development. It is vital to build the institutional, economic and technical training means for those who work in the water sector.

EXPECTED OUTCOME

To provide guidance to decision-makers across all levels of government on how to develop and improve

- water education,
- professional training and
- capacity building.
